List of Perfumes For The Pilgrim Innate Group

April 27, 2025

The perfume list for innately Pilgrim group was created by the authors of this website. The purpose of the list is to demonstrate the relationship between the odors of different perfumes and theoretical innate groups, types, and temperaments. This list of perfumes is an extension of the page "A Typological Classification Of Perfumes For Innate Types".

In ancient times, feelings, emotions, and so forth were the same as they are now. But people back then realized and learned that the smells of beautiful flowers or trees or other aromas could be transformed into a substance to be applied to the skin or clothing. This is how perfumes were born. For some, perfumes are personal territory, for others, they are seduction and love hidden in a bottle.

The strongest perfumes have many essential oils in their composition. There are also perfumes with synthetic substances in their composition, which interestingly complement or replace those natural components that are very difficult to obtain in the necessary quantities. The weakest, but no less pleasant-smelling perfumes are toilet water and colognes. But the most is that many perfumes have a very different smell, which creates a very different image and changes the atmosphere around. This is what gave the authors of this website and typology the idea of creating a classification of perfumes.

The authors of this website and classification are in no way affiliated with the manufacturers or retailers of these perfumes from the list and do not sell these perfumes. The list includes perfumes as well as eau de toilette and colognes. And since all the perfumes on the list are sold to all people in the same way, you can choose any other perfume on the market that you like, as this typology is not a recommendation.

The basis of this typology of perfumes for Pilgrim group

All perfume scents were collected individually and allocated based on the subjective experience of the authors of this typology and website. The basis for allocation was the knowledge of typology, knowledge of the differences between preferences and tastes of innate groups, types, temperaments (sanguine, choleric, phlegmatic, melancholic), as well as the theoretical age of types (young, middle, old). There was no gender division in the perfumes. You can study for yourself which perfumes are more suitable for which gender.
